The aeroplane is a wonderful invention of twentieth century. It is a flying machine. It has a long body with wings on either side. It has a tail with a rudder for controlling the direction. When it flies high up in the air, it looks like a great bee. It is a very useful invention. It is used for many purposes. It carries passengers across oceans, mountains and deserts. But it is a source of great danger to mankind in war times. In the present age aeroplanes are being used for bombing open towns. Thus the very useful invention is proving to be a curse.

1. What is the shape of an aeroplane as described in this passage?
2. What is the function of the rudder in the aeroplane?
3. How does an aeroplane look like when it flies high in the air?
4. Write the useful purposes an aeroplane is used for?
5. When does an aeroplane become a curse for mankind?
